We’re fighting child hunger through community and school partnerships, because no child should be hungry.

THE ISSUE:

Over 200,000 children in Minnesota live in food insecurity – meaning they don’t always know if they will have food for their next meal. The Sheridan Story's mission is to fight child hunger by closing the weekend food gap. Through our network of community partners, we provide a bag of nutritious food directly in students’ backpacks each Friday afternoon.

OUR APPROACH:

The Sheridan Story takes a unique approach to fighting child hunger. We partner a local school with a community sponsor, who then provides funding towards the weekend food program, and the volunteers necessary to distribute the food to the kids on Fridays. The Sheridan Story is the logistical and operational arm of the program - we source, pack, manage inventory, store and deliver the food to the schools. We have developed this logistical model to provide food for children, because we believe that this is not a supply problem but a distribution problem.

THE IMPACT:

The Sheridan Story is committed to implementing a weekend food program so that no child goes hungry. We currently implement our Weekend Food Program in 200 schools throughout Minnesota, serving 6,200 kids every week.
